WHEN AND WHERE YOU CAN REGISTER

Dates of Last Days of Registration Are Oct. 8th, 9th, 15th, 29th and 30th—Those Who Voted in Ogdan at the Last Election and Have Not Moved to Other Districts Need Not Register Again.

Many people of late have made inquiries as to the days when registration will be possible, notwithstanding the fact that it is not long ago that the Standard printed the information. There are five more days in which a person can register for the coming election—on October 8th, 9th, 15th, 29th, and 30th, therefore next Tuesday will be the next day of registration, and it is a safe rule to register at the first opportunity that is offered.

Now as to who will have to register—there is a prevalent idea that there is a new registration entirely this year, because it is a presidential year, but that is not true. If you voted last year or the year before in some cases, there will be no need of your registering again. The county clerk in making up the registration lists for this year, simply takes the poll list of the last election and copies therefrom the names of those who voted, at that time. If you have moved to a new district since last election, you must register or get transferred. While the lists are made up carefully, it cannot be expected that all mistakes will be avoided and therefore every voter should see that his name is on the list when it is posted after the first day of registration.

JOHNSON BUYS TWO FAST HORSES

Saturday C. B. Johnson of this city purchased Parryhunts, the running horse from Minersville, Beaver county, who made a spectacular race in Salt Lake last Wednesday and took away some of Salt Lake's hard-earned money. Mr. Johnson paid a handsome price for the racer and thinks he is among the fastest horses in the country. The horse defeated the best horses at the State fair three-eighths of a mile, making the route in 1:02 under a light rein.

Mr. Johnson also has purchased the famous trotting stallion Tidal Wave who has a record of 2:06. The latter purchase was made in San Francisco. Both horses are now in Ogden and they are fine specimens of horseflesh.

The Future Woman.

"Woman is today a parasite. But the woman of the future will work." The speaker, Lady Warwick, was narrating her views of the suffrage question to a New York reporter. She continued:

"The parasitical woman will be extinct in a generation or two. Then a certain vitiation of Lord Saye and Sele's will be unintelligible."

"Lord Saye and Sele attended recently a book dinner. At this dinner everybody had to represent some book title. Well, Lord Saye and Sele just carried on his arm a petticoat."

"He was representing, you see, Kipling's 'Life's Handicap'."

WORK STARTS ON BIG ECCLES BUILDING

Dinwiddie Company, Represented by W. A. Larkin, Begins Construction of Eight-Story Structure at Corner of Twenty-fourth Street and Washington Avenue—Will Be a Monument to David Eccles.

Work on the new eight-story Eccles building, Twenty-fourth street and Washington avenue, commenced this morning when a gang of laborers under M. R. Niles commenced the clearing away of the debris of the big fire which destroyed the old Eccles building.

The present work consists of removing the brick and stone walls that were left standing when injunction proceedings were instituted by the Commercial National bank of this city and in excavating to a depth of about four feet below the level of the basement of the old building. Brick walls are standing on the south and west sides and stone remains on the north side of the place. The south wall is nearly three stories high and the west wall stands about two stories high. The stone wall on the north side of the structure is two stories high and is made up largely of arch-ways. The main arch of the corner of the old building is standing to a height of about two stories.

The Dinwiddie company undertook to contract with local construction companies for the removal of the ruins and the excavating, but they could not obtain satisfactory terms and so proceeded to take up the work under the direction of a foreman. Manager W. A. Larkin of the construction company says that the work will be pushed vigorously and that there will be little question but that the place will be made ready for steel construction before winter sets in. It is anticipated that by tomorrow morning there will be at least 25 men in the pit removing the debris and parts of brick walls that are standing.

The beginning of work on this building means the employment of a large force of men at a time of year when laborers need employment. The structure when completed will cost in the neighborhood of a quarter million dollars, a great deal of which will be spent in labor.

According to the plans that have been prepared by the architects, the building will be modern in every respect. All the walls and partitions will be made of steel and the floors will be either of that material or reinforced concrete. No money will be spared in making the building one of the best in the state.

The contract was let to the Dinwiddie Construction company of Portland, Ore., last spring, since which time the architects, Whitaker & Hodgson of this city, have been busy perfecting the plans. The steel for the entire structure has been ordered and a Chicago firm has prepared it for shipment.

The building when completed will be 72 feet by 122 feet, eight stories high with a basement extending under the north and east sidewalks. The basement will be excavated 26 inches below the present level.

W. A. Larkin, who with Dinwiddie is the Dinwiddie Construction company, says the foundation will be in place within six weeks and that work will then be halted until after the winter storms, but steel construction will start in the early spring and the building will be made ready for tenants by July 1 next year.

His company has a record of erecting a fourteen-story building in Portland in 82 days.

Larkin and Dinwiddie, prior to forming a company of their own, were with Thompson-Starrett, the builders of the Woolworth structure in New York which will be 56 stories high, reaching to a height of 755 feet.

Frank Burns, charged with stealing an automobile from the Studebaker company, waived his preliminary hearing and was bound over to the district court by Judge W. H. Reeder this morning.

THE FIRST GRAY HAIR SIGN OF AGE

Easy Way to Preserve
Natural Color of the Hair and Make It Grow

A harmless remedy, made from common garden sage, quickly restores gray hair to natural color. The care of the hair, to prevent it from losing its color and lustre, is just as important as to care for the teeth to keep them from discoloring. Why spend money for cosmetics and creams to improve the complexion, and yet neglect your hair, when gray hair is even more conspicuous and suggestive of age than wrinkles or a poor complexion? Of the two, it is easier to preserve the natural color and beauty of the hair than it is to have a good complexion.

All that is necessary is the occasional use of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of common garden Sage and Sulphur, combined with other valuable remedies for dry, harsh, faded hair, dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. After a few applications of this simple, harmless remedy, your hair will gradually be restored to its natural color, in a short time the dandruff will be removed, and your hair will no longer come out but will start to grow as Nature intended it should.

Don't neglect your hair, for it goes further than anything else to make or mar your good looks. You can buy this remedy at any drug store for fifty cents a bottle, and your druggist will give you money back if you are not satisfied after using. Purchase a bottle today. You will never regret it when you realize the difference it will make in your appearance. Special Agent, A. R. McIntyre. (Advertisement.)

COZY CORNER CLUB

The Cozy Corner club ladies met on Tuesday last for their final meeting before the holiday season, with Mrs. M. B. Cardon at her home, 437 Washington avenue. The time was spent in a delightful social way, contests and guessing games being indulged in, with a review of the pleasant, harmonious meetings held during the past year and happy anticipation of future meetings to begin in the late winter season.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Austin Shaw, Mrs. Carl Redfield and Mrs. Anna Cardon. The meeting was one of the most happy and entertaining of the series, a successful "Trip Around the World" being an interesting feature.

The dining room, where refreshments that would tempt the appetite of an epicure, were served, was made bright and especially inviting with an effective arrangement of roses and cosmos.

some time ago assured Coffroth that the terms the latter had named in connection with a Thanksgiving match were acceptable. There was so much talk to the effect that Jones was dickering with New Orleans, Los Angeles and other points that Coffroth began to fear that Jones was going back on his word.

Recently, however, Jones wired to Coffroth from New Orleans as follows:

"Proposition wired from Cadillac still goes for Thanksgiving."

This set Coffroth's mind at rest and he will begin to prepare plans for conducting a world's championship match at his Daly City arena Thanksgiving day.

To begin with, Coffroth wants to bring a pair of prominent lightweights together in this city next month. He figures that Joe Rivers, Frankie Burns, Burns and Willie Ritchie are the best available men in Wolgast's division, and that one of these will be the champion's next opponent.

"Any pair of them will do for my October card," said Coffroth. "There is not much to choose between them, in my opinion, and I think that's the way the public views them. Say that Rivers and Ritchie boxed first, I'm sure the winner would be considered a fit opponent for Wolgast, and it would be the same if Burns and Mandot oppose each other, or Burns and Ritchie."

"I have been in communication with Mondot relative to coming north to box, and am expecting an answer now. Without attempting to say at this time who will form the October card, I feel satisfied that I will be able to send two of the lightweights named together and to develop a Thanksgiving opponent for Champion Wolgast."

FIGHTERS SEEK PARENTE'S $10,000

(B. W. W. Naughton.)

San Francisco, Oct. 4.—Louis Parente did not come through with that rat deposit of $10,000.

Louis is the man who, on the preceding day created a flutter in sportdom by announcing that he had decided to offer Wolgast and Willie Ritchie a purse of $25,000 out of his own pocket.

He explained that it went against the grain with him to see all the good matches getting away from San Francisco, and that he intended to place this city on the map again as the hub of the boxing universe.

He declared that he wanted to put Wolgast and Ritchie in the ring on Thanksgiving day, and said he would produce $10,000 of the promised amount.

Shortly after saying all this Louis disappeared. He has not been seen by any one since, at least, not by any one who is willing to bear witness to the fact.

He has left a waiting world in doubt. Some persons are inclined to think that Parente merely made his bid for the sake of the advertising it would bring him, and that he had no intention of producing any of the little gold discs that jingle when you bounce them.

Others believe that he meant business while the fit was on him, but after the cool night breeze played upon his brow he became appalled at his own reckless liberality and took to the woods.

Billy Nolan, manager of Willie Ritchie, acquired again trailing after Parente. At Parente's saloon in the North Beach district they told Nolan that Parente had gone to El Verano on urgent business. A long distance phone to El Verano brought the information that Parente was not there and was not expected there.

"Seems as if he won't be much use to me if I do find him," muttered Nolan, dejectedly, and he probably hit the right nail.

Meanwhile Jim Coffroth and Tim Jones, manager of Ad Wolgast, have got together in such a way as to make it reasonable certain that Wolgast will fight for Coffroth on Thanksgiving day.

The writer mentioned in these columns a few days ago that Jones
